

Willmott Park Primary Prep student Lauren Hilderbrand takes care of her little, fuzzy classmates. Picture: Tim Carrafa. Source: News Corp Australia

THERE'S no fowl play at Willmott Park Primary School – unless you count these fluffy visitors.

The Craigieburn school's Preps, who have been learning about farm life, were given the responsibility of raising 10 chicks thanks to the Living Eggs program.

Prep leader Sara-Kate Allen said the chicks spent two weeks with the students.

Each class was assigned naming rights, and while the names Queen Elsa, Lemon and Jumbo graced birth certificates, Ms Allen said Barbecue just didn't make the cut.

But thankfully, no feathers were rustled when it was time for the chicks to fly the coop.

"We're certainly going to do this again next year," Ms Allen said.

The Preps will follow up their poultry experience with a visit to Bundoora Children's Farm.